To: Applicants of the 115th Basic Training Program
From: Kenneth Hawkins, Interim Director of Training
Date: September 29, 2022
Subject: INSTRUCTIONS ON ATTENDANCE AND REPORTING

Welcome! The Vermont Police Academy's Basic Training Course for Level III Law Enforcement applicants is a residential program for all state, local, and county officers seeking certification. Using a centralized training model for all Vermont agencies provides an exceptional opportunity for ensuring all students are equipped with the same baseline of understanding. Instructors and mentors will lead you in building resilience, developing character and a personal dedication to our core values, as well as a sense of commitment to the communities you will serve. A philosophy of guardianship and community-oriented policing is emphasized throughout the program. The Academy works with police agencies across Vermont to bring you exceptional subject matter experts who share their knowledge and experience. You will develop confidence, grit, and a sense of passion and responsibility in protecting all of Vermont's community members and visitors.

The 115th Basic Training Class for Police Professionals will begin on February 6, 2023. Each week, recruits must be present Monday morning through Friday afternoon, and often arrive at the Academy on Sunday evenings to prepare for the week ahead.

The Academy's training program will prepare you for a long and safe career in law enforcement. You will, by design, be exposed to varying stressful situations from completing timed tasks to live, realistic scenarios. As you progress, you will be expected to perform increasingly complex law enforcement-related tasks, requiring application of knowledge learned, as well as demonstrating critical thinking skills. On Day One of this program, your journey will begin with a physically and mentally demanding shift. The program is regimented, demanding adherence to rules and regulations through demonstration of discipline, integrity, and professionalism.

The concept of 'police legitimacy' is central to this profession. Accountability is of the utmost importance. Therefore, while you are here, you will be accountable for your educational progress, your personal appearance, the appearance of shared living areas, and the development of positive relationships with your colleagues.

Standards and expectations are high because our communities deserve nothing less.
